TUESDAY CLUB ENJOYS DISCUSSION

Mrs. Ward's Reception Is Well Attended Despite the Rain

SHAKESPEARE NOTE

Mrs. Montgomery, Miss Litch and Mrs. Lyons Preside

Though the rains descended, a goodly company of members of the Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon club gathered at the home of Mrs. Bert Ward on West Myrtle street Monday afternoon for the open meeting of the section, and when the program ended everybody was urged to have extra helpings of the delicious refreshments served by the hostess and assisting ladies, which had been prepared for a company of 50. Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, the curator, presided.

Miss Litch opened the program with piano numbers, McDowell compositions—"Rigodon," "In Autumn" and "A Song," which were beautifully interpreted.

The leader of the class, Mrs. J. E. Lyon, then made a poetic talk on "The Value of Literature to a Nation," quoting Goethe, who said: "Literature is the humanization of the whole world." It proclaims the ideals of a people. She spoke of the extent to which England had been blessed by literary geniuses and of the debt literature owes to the monks for the preservation of great masterpieces, often giving a lifetime to the translation of one book. Said she: "In the period of Richard II which we have been studying, the 14th century, so small was the number of writers, you could name them all with the fingers of one hand."

She then spoke at some length of the Canterbury Tales written by Geoffrey Chaucer and supposed to have been told by a company of pilgrims who set out from Tabard Inn, near London bridge, to visit the shrine of Thomas à Becket at Canterbury cathedral, who traveled together for safety against the robbers who infested the way, and whiled away the tedium of the journey by these tales. She touched on some of these stories, "Everyman," "Chaucer and the Fox," "Patient Griselda" and others, dwelling on the rare wit of Chaucer, and briefly outlining his biography as a soldier of fortune in the wars of the roses. Others mentioned were John Wicliffe, who preached the reformation and translated the Bible; William Langland, John Gower, dyspeptic moralist, and John Mandeville, who led the way for "Gulliver's Travels" by his fantastic tales.

She closed with the story of a dream in which a book lover falls asleep in his library and all the characters in the books he loves descend from the shelves to form a group to seat that the walls of the room melt away to give them

Emblems of Nations Discussed Tonight by James W. Foley

Pause for a moment to consider the emblems of the greatest nations—United States and Great Britain. What do we find? Asks James W. Foley in "The Listening Post" tonight. One, a bird of prey; the other, a beast of prey; and neither one with the spirit of the times. Mr. Foley believes that both these emblems have been outworn and he asks who selected the lion and the eagle, anyhow.

Henry James in his comment of the day's news refers to an editorial in an Omaha newspaper concerning weather conditions in California. Mr. James reverts back to the days when he lived in that city and struggled homeward in the early morning hours, bundled as for the Arctic, the ice annoying him by accumulating on his whiskers, but that isn't all he says about that climate. Turn to the editorial page and read the rest of it.

Dr. Frank Crane, Della Stewart and John Pilgrim each offer the reader a choice bit of reading matter, John Pilgrim concluding his article with these words: "Brilliant boys are apt to spend too much time on street corners." You will have to read his article to learn what he means.

HACKENSCHMIDT IS READY TO MEET JACK McDONALD

Declares He Is Prepared to Meet Him Anywhere at Any Time

John Hackenschmidt, Glendale's representative along the wrestling line, called at the office of the Glendale Press this morning and said that it would give him great pleasure to "tangle" once more with Jack McDonald, the Canadian heavyweight champion wrestler. So confident is "Hack" that he can pin McDonald's shoulders to the mat in short order that he says he is willing to wrestle him anywhere and under any conditions.

"It's up to McDonald to come in and name his terms," said Hackenschmidt this morning. "I'll go more than half way with him and I'll promise to wind the scrimmage up in short order, too. I put him down twice at the last meet and I know there will be no trouble in repeating the trick."

It now remains for the wrestlers to get together at the Press office and sign articles.

THE ROMA, DIRIGIBLE, EXPLODES

28 Are Killed on Langley Field by Flames Which Bar Rescue

RUDDER BREAKS

Machining Hits Ground and Bursts Into Flames at Army Base

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 21.—At least 28 men were killed in the explosion of the Roma.

The dirigible Roma exploded at 2 p. m. today.

Of the 35 men the ship carried, only ten have been rescued.

All the rescued were badly injured and have been removed to the army base hospital.

Captain Dale Maybree, in command of the ship, was burned to death.

The explosion of the Roma was caused by the bag striking electric wires over the army base. While cruising low the rudder became entangled in the wires, carrying 2,900 volts, and the giant bag ignited.

A deafening explosion followed and the ship plunged to earth.

The message added that subchasers and other craft were rushed to the scene. When the message was filed no bodies had been recovered.

Fourteen were at first reported missing. The ship carried a crew of thirty as it left Langley field.

The rudder broke as it circled over the army base and the bag descended slowly to earth. As its nose plowed into the ground a tremendous explosion shook the frame and the bag was enveloped in flames.

Four bodies were picked up. The intense heat of the flames rendered rescue work impossible and the fire is extinguished it will not be known as to the number of dead.

The Roma was purchased by the United States from the Italian government. It was brought to this country aboard ship after the disaster of the dirigible ZR-2, purchased from Great Britain, over the city of Hull, England.

The huge airship was making a series of test flights. It had been planned to take it on a tour of the whole United States.

An attempt was to have been made by the Roma to smash the record for speed with a dirigible.

Langley field officers confidently expected the ship to make 90 miles an hour on the trip. The accident took place two hours after the ship left her hangar at Langley field.

The Roma had just been emptied of helium gas, which is non-explosive and non-inflammable.

As the ship contained all of the helium in the country, naval authorities ordered it taken from the bag and stored. Ordinary field gas used for balloon inflation was substituted. The operation of changing gases was completed Saturday.

A later report to the army air service stated that the dirigible fell in flames to the ground near the Norfolk army base. The message, received at 3:25 stated the wreckage still was burning.

Today's flight was the first one taken with Liberty motors as motive power. The new power plant was installed on return from Washington, where the ship was christened. The Italian engines refused to function properly in cold weather and were taken out and Liberties were put in their place.

The disaster to the Roma is the second that has overtaken an air cruiser built for the United States by a foreign government within six months.

The ZR-2, built for this country by Great Britain, blew up over Hull, England, with a loss of 62 lives, on August 25, 1921.

At the time of the ZR-2 disaster the Roma was still in the course of construction. Both the Roma and the ZR-2 were outgrowths of the German Zeppelin type of airship.

The Roma, queen of the American army's dirigibles, was one of the largest craft of its kind in the world. It was the greatest dirigible in this country.

The big ship, only recently christened here with elaborate ceremonies, was made for the United States in Italy. It was assembled at Langley Field, Va. On its recent flight to Washington for the christening ceremonies, some difficulties with the engines were encountered. The big ship did not seem to weather strong winds very well and some fears for its durability were expressed then.

The dirigible was constructed at Ciampino, Italy, and was the work of these Italian balloon experts: Usselli, Nobile, Prassone, and Colonel Crocco.

The Roma, however, was much smaller than the ZR-2. Its gas volume was 1,200,000 cubic feet, while that of the ZR-2 was 2,750,000 cubic feet.

Miss Lise Schnudeck has been voted the prettiest of all beauties in Czech-Slovakia. Title result was the culmination of a nation-wide contest in which hundreds of participants vied for premier honors.

CONVENTION OF LOCAL NATIONAL PRESBYTERIANS IS HELD HERE

All C. E. Organizations of Glendale District Join at Election

An inspiring convention was held Sunday afternoon at the Glendale Presbyterian church by representatives of all the Christian Endeavor societies in the Glendale district, which includes Burbank and Eagle Rock.

At its closing session at 5:30 the candidates for office selected by the nominating committee were unanimously elected as follows:

President, Harry Marple; vice president, George Stanley; second vice president and junior superintendent, Miss Louise McKee; secretary, Miss Lois Mock; treasurer, Benton McNary; missionary superintendent, Miss Gertrude Heidman; social superintendent, Miss Helen Engle; international superintendent, Orrin Barnes; publicity superintendent, Miss Carol Duncan.

After this election had taken place, Miss Carol Duncan, who has been the president of the Glendale district the past year and who presided over the general sessions of the conventionette, thanked all the officers and committee.

Up to Pontius

Vice President Pontius of the Pacific Electric has conferred with the city council. He obtained at first hand information as to the public support of the city bus project.

He learned that the bus line can be derailed one way. That is by reducing the fare on the Pacific Electric to Glendale.

He learned that the serious situation precipitated upon Glendale by the arbitrary raise of fares has been met and reversed until it is now a serious matter for the Pacific Electric to maintain the advance.

He confessed that the bus is a menace to the Pacific Electric line in so far as Glendale is concerned.

He received the ultimatum of the council, which presents an alternative, the reduction of fares as the price of eliminating the bus line competition.

Mr. Pontius is now in a difficult position. Much more difficult than that of the city of Glendale.

He is a servant of his corporation. He must get results for his corporation. He cannot face the bus competition.

The city council is a composite servant, too. It must get results for the community. It can face the P. E. competition with a bus line.

Having out-manuevered the corporation and Mr. Pontius, having the people behind it, the council has shown admirable self-restraint in giving Mr. Pontius the alternative of a return to the old fares. The alternative is worthy of Glendale.

For, after all, the Pacific Electric is a structure in the transportation system in this county. True, it is negligible now so far as Glendale is concerned, but the money of a great many people is tied up in it.

So long as it is willing to compete with the newer and cheaper means of transportation indicated by motor bus development, it should be encouraged. In other words, if it is willing to keep its place as a servant of the public it should be retained in the life of the community.

But it should never again be permitted to assume the role of master.

And as a matter of precaution it would not be inadvisable to vote the bonds for the stage line, even though the bonds are never sold. Preparation is most adequate prevention.

HARDING IS SEEKING TO DEFER BONUS

Learned He Favors Postponement of Legislation Until 1923

BILL MAY BE VETOED

Described as Awaiting Sufficient Protest to Sustain Opposition

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—President Harding is "strongly in favor" of postponing soldier bonus legislation until next year, it was learned on reliable authority today.

The president communicated his view to a republican senator who called at the White House. He did not say that he would veto a bonus bill if it is sent to him, but indicated he might do so if protests continue to reach him.

What Harding wants to know, it is reported, is whether the opposition is to the bonus bill itself, or only against paying the bonus by the special taxes which the senate and house conference originally decided upon.

There was a demand from many hard members today that the president indicate clearly whether he will veto a bonus measure if it comes to him with other than the sales tax method for providing the needed revenue.

Opponents of the sales tax in the house were claiming a victory today. Early reports, they said, indicated that a petition started out late yesterday against the sales tax was being freely signed in all state delegations.

INTERMEDIATE P. T. A. MEETING IS RAIN BOUND

Speakers Engaged for Birthday Celebration Are Excused

Because of the rain, speakers who had been engaged to give talks at the birthday celebration of the Intermediate Parent-Teacher association Monday afternoon at the school, were excused and the loyal members who braved the storm had a business session instead, also enjoying the handsome birthday cake served to celebrate the 25th birthday of the Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations movement.

The association voted to give $25 to the athletic association of the school to enable it to start at once the building of bleachers.

There was general discussion of the bazaar or other entertainment the association plans to give as a money-making enterprise.

The membership chairman, Mrs. Ayars, reported an enrollment of 276, the largest membership the association has ever had.

At the close of the business session the big cake, bearing 25 candles, was brought forward. The candles were lighted by Mrs. W. A. Kulp, president of the association, who made the wish that the next 25 years may see the association and the Parent-Teacher movement going forward along the line of greater unity and usefulness, for the good of the child, the home and the nation.

Miss Carrie Noble (principal of Intermediate), blew out the candles, also making an appropriate wish.

Miss Alice Lookabaugh, as the youngest member present, was asked to cut the cake, and Mesdames Andrews, Halverson and Ambrosch served tea. About 25 ladies were present.

JAPAN RADICALS AGITATE IN TOKIO

TOKIO, Feb. 21.—Several speakers at a large suffrage demonstration here today were arrested when police broke up the gathering.

The men held were said by authorities to have spoken in praise of the young student Nakao who assassinated former Premier Hara, and are charged with inciting violence.

Following closely the recent attempt upon the life of Prince Tomiya, Japanese agents delegate, which had just been revealed, the offense is regarded as the more serious in government circles. Officials are keeping strict watch on public gatherings.

TURN GUNS ON STRIKERS

PAWPUCKET, R. I., Feb. 21.—Joseph Assenon, a striker, was killed and several persons wounded today when police with riot guns fired into a mob of textile workers near the Jenckses Spinning company mills here. The riot act was read.

ODD JUST GOOD NEWS

DISTRICT ATTORNEY OF BOSTON REMOVED
BOSTON, Feb. 21.—District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletted was removed from office in a decision handed down by the supreme judicial court of Massachusetts today.

HARDING ENDEAVORING TO AVOID COAL STRIKE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The administration is doing everything possible to avert the threatened coal strike, the White House announced today. The departments of labor and commerce are continuing their work of trying quietly to bring about an agreement and officials still are hopeful that they will be successful.

FOREIGN DEBT COMMITTEE NAMED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—President Harding today nominated the foreign debt refunding commission. The members are:

Secretary of State Hughes; Secretary of the Treasury Mellon; Secretary of Commerce Hoover; Senator Smoot, Utah; Representative Burton, Ohio.

The nominations go to the senate for confirmation, after which the commission will organize, and tackle the debt refunding problem.

GRAND VIEW TREE DEDICATION IS POSTPONED

Weather Halts Preparations at the Foothill School

The dedication and tree planting exercises which were announced to take place Wednesday on the site of the new Grand View school, have been indefinitely postponed on account of the unsettled weather and wet condition of the soil.

This announcement has been made by Mrs. Elspeth, member of the school committee of the Foothill Improvement Association. She states that another program will be arranged because the committee is very anxious to start the parking of the school grounds.

MINERS SUMMON WAGE CONFERENCE

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—Powerrail and mine union representatives met here today to discuss the "defensive alliance" proposed by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers.

Advisability of a coalition of the two labor groups for the purpose of fighting further reductions threatened by employers was the subject of the conference.

Fifteen of the sixteen railroad unions, including the four big brotherhoods, answered the call of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—Call for a conference between miners and operators in Cleveland, March 2 to draw a new wage scale was issued here today by President John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

Lewis, whose call amounts to an invitation to the mine owners asked that a committee of two operators and two miners from each state in the central competitive field get together to agree on a new contract.

The miners, though Lewis issued the call for the conference, when operators refused to treat with union representatives concerning a new contract to go into effect April 1. Operators also stated wages would be cut.

The railroad unions facing another fight against wage reductions before the United States railroad board on March 6, accepted the invitation as a chance to air mutual problems.

Representatives of the two groups if they choose could completely paralyze the nation's industry if they decided on concerted action. D. W. Held, head of the railroad signalmen said no cut and dried plan of action had been mapped out. They said the meeting would be a hearing house of ideas.

Although minor representatives expressed themselves willing "to go the limit," in the formation of an alliance, interviewers with representatives of the rail unions showed an inclination to balk at any other than the offer of "moral support."

COLUMBUS, Feb. 21.—The invitation of John L. Lewis for conference between union officials and operators will be refused, Ohio mine owners indicated today.

Officials of the Southern Ohio coal exchange, the first organization to abrogate the four-state wage agreement, declared they saw no reason to change their stand.

RAINFALL TODAY

The rain gauge of T. W. Preston of North Jackson street, official weather recorder, shows a total for the storm of 1.27 inches, and total for the season to date, 25.01 inches. Last year's total at a corresponding date was only 8.80 inches.

ULTIMATUM IS HANDED TO P. E. CHIEF

Vice President Pontius Is Told Bus Inevitable Unless Fares Reduced

P. E. ROAD FEARS BUS

2-Hour Conference Convinces Railway City Is Serious

That the city will operate a bus line unless the Pacific Electric reduced its rates, was the ultimatum handed politely at lunch Monday by the city council to their guests, Vice-President and General Manager T. D. Pontius and Frank Carr, attorney for the Pacific Electric.

The lunch took place at the Glen Inn as a termination of a meeting begun earlier in the day between Mr. Pontius and Mr. Carr and Mayor Robinson, Councilmen Davis and Kimlin, City Manager Reeves, City Attorney Bert Woodard and C. D. Gulick, transportation expert of the city of Glendale. After the lunch the party adjourned. Mr. Pontius and his corporation attorney took the ultimatum to Los Angeles for consideration while the city officials shook hands on their unanimity and parted.

The Pacific Electric officials will return to Glendale for another meeting after the Hollywood rate hearing on February 24.

Mr. Pontius admitted to Mayor Spencer Robinson, Councilmen Davis and Kimlin, City Manager W. H. Reeves and City Attorney Bert Woodard and C. D. Gulick, transportation expert of the city of Glendale, that a bus line operated along the lines proposed by the Glendale officials would be disastrous to the Pacific Electric as far as the Glendale branch of the line was concerned. It would be impossible, he said, for the corporation to take any action regarding the lowering of the rates to this city until after the Hollywood rate hearing before the state railroad commission scheduled for February 24.

The corporation officials asked for the conference with the Glendale officials yesterday. The meeting started at 10 o'clock in the morning and continued until lunch time. The party lunched at the Glen Inn and continued their discussion at the table. No objection to the rates charged by the company on the one-way and trip cash fares being charged under the present rate. The one-way cash fare to Los Angeles at present is 23 cents and the round trip rate is 33 cents. These fares the Glendale officials told the P. E. representatives are too high and must be reduced before the Pacific Electric can hope to have the city of Glendale suspend its project of operating a municipally owned bus line that would create a 25-cent round trip fare between the two cities.

The matter of the Pacific Electric Company lowering the rates along Brad Boulevard to conform with the street level of that thoroughfare was also discussed at the meeting and the railway officials indicated that the company was willing to consider the track lowering favorably. Another meeting, has been requested by the railway officials for an early date following the Hollywood rate hearing. This will in all probability be granted by the Glendale councilmen and officials at which time the matter of operating the bus line as a competitive organization to the Pacific Electric will be more fully discussed.

FLIVVER OWNERS FIGHT

LESLIE PATCH IS BENEDICT

Married to Miss Margaret Selky of Chicago by Dr. Henry

Leslie L. Patch, a member of the firm of Crawford & Cox, well-known builders and contractors, is no longer a bachelor.

Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, he and his fiancée, Miss Margaret Selky, who came to Glendale from Chicago last August, were quietly married at the home of the bridegroom's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Crawford, 800 South Central avenue. Dr. J. H. Henry, father of Mrs. Crawford, the only witnesses being the host and hostess.

Following the ceremony the wedding party had dinner at the Glen Inn and later motored to the Hotel Alexandria, Los Angeles, where Mr. and Mrs. Patch will be guests until the weather becomes settled enough to permit them to carry out their plans for a motor trip to the honey-moon.

Mr. Patch is a well-known member of the local Elks' lodge and has a host of friends in social and business circles.

Just where they will make their home will be decided upon their return from the wedding trip.

BURNED TO DEATH AS HUSBAND GAZED

AIKEN, S. C., Feb. 21.—Trapped by flames, Mrs. C. E. Monts and three of her children burned to death in their home here today before the eyes of the husband and father who made desperate efforts to bring himself through a wall of fire to rescue them. He was severely burned.

OLD FLUKE-SLASHER ASKS QUESTIONS

By JOHN BARTON
(Copyright, 1931, by Associated Newspapers)

Having owned up the very ridiculous behavior of his ancestors, the first muskrats, when the whale nosed onto them in the middle of the Big Flood, Dr. Muskrat went on more briskly. "None of us likes to be laughed at, it hurts our feelings. But my poor great-great-grandparents disliked being laughed at by old Fluke-Slasher for a more serious reason. When he laughed the water got into his throat and he snorted it out of the nostrils while in the middle of their noses instead of out at the end like other folks. And he just drowned everything for yards around."

"My poor muskrat kinsfolk thought it was beginning to rain."

And He Just Drenched Everything for Yards Around

all over again. So they dove for their tight little grass nests in the middle of their weather-beaten little thorn tree, and there they covered while it rocked in the waves from the whale's heaving sides.

"By and by Fluke-Slasher got done with his giggling and gurgling and snorting. 'Hey!' he roared.

"Where have you gone? Stop hiding. I want to look at you again. Who are you, anyway?"

"Well, they didn't dare make him angry 'cause they couldn't tell what he'd take into his head to do if they disobeyed him, so out they came in fear, and trembling. And my poor old grandpop squeaked: 'We were mouse folk once, but we're not sure what we've gotten to be by now. We feel so different.'"

"Wazzat?" asked the whale, yawning his terrible gape once more. But he wasn't laughing this time. He was trying to listen. For nobody knows where whales keep their ears, but they certainly hear best with their mouths open. "I wish you'd speak a little louder—and try not to mumble."

"Mouse!" repeated my poor grandpop. Then he guessed that was what Fluke-Slasher meant by muzzling, so he changed it to "Rat!" After all, it's all in the family.

"Aw-w!" That whale nodded deeply, sending out a new row of swells at each wail of his head. "Mouse—rat! Eh? I knew this was the first time I'd seen you. I know lots of queer fish in fur-seeing how Mister Noah thinks I'm a fish because I swim, though I'm just as much beast as you are. I know walrus and seals, and sea cows, and otters, and dozens more, but I never saw such a minnow as you at sea before. What are you doing here?"

"Looking for land, sir. Looking for land."

"Aw-w! Well, there's be some

"SATURDAY NIGHT" AT THE T. D. & L.

Although today is Tuesday, all Ralph Allan of the T. D. and L. theatre can talk about is "Saturday Night." "Saturday Night" is the big Cecil B. DeMille production which is the attraction at the T. D. and L. theatre today. Additional attractions include "The Saturday Night Review," the quartet of saxophone artists and singers which took the patrons of the T. D. and L. theatre by storm Sunday evening when they refused to permit the show to continue until an extra encore had been given, will again appear tonight, tomorrow and Thursday evenings.

THREADED RUBBER BATTERIES WIN

It is hardly possible to pick up a newspaper these days without noting a reference to something new in the motor car industry. Improvements in springs, bodies, carburetors, motors, and other important working parts of the car are seemingly every-day affairs. The most notable exception to the general tendency to cut manufacturing costs by substituting new materials, new designs and new methods of production, is the automobile storage battery. The staunchness with which the principal battery manufacturers hold to their standards and to the details of construction of their product is striking proof of their faith that each is making a battery which is, in his opinion, as good as can be built.

Contrary to the general demand for lower-priced materials and parts to be put into cars, one of the largest battery manufacturers, the Willard Storage Battery company, of Cleveland, reports that there is more general use than ever before of their threaded rubber battery. This is a higher-priced product than the other types of automobile batteries which it manufactures, but notwithstanding that fact, there are 191 builders of motor cars and trucks furnishing this battery as standard equipment.

A good spender may die in poverty, in the poor house or in jail, but he doesn't often die in despair.

INSURANCE DIRECTOR DIES
NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—R. C. Cholmely Jones, former director of the war risk insurance bureau, died here today of heart disease.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost every one knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody using this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.—Adv.

$35,000 BUSINESS BLOCK BEGUN ON BDWY. HEIGHTS

Ground Broken for New Center by J. C. Lasery Company

Ground has been broken on the Broadway Heights tract on East Broadway for a modern business block to cost about $35,000. The building will be constructed by the J. C. Lasery Construction company of Los Angeles, which firm expects to start work on the actual construction of the building today or tomorrow. The work that is now being done consists of removing the ground to the sidewalk level. This building will be made entirely of brick. It will for the present be a one-story structure, provision being made for the second floor, which may be placed at a later date. In this building there will be seven store-rooms on Broadway and one on Ellis avenue. Although work on the building has not been actually started two of the store-rooms have already been leased, and it is understood that a number of applications for the others have been received. It is expected that this building will be completed and ready for occupancy in about 60 days. It is the belief of the Broadway Heights company that this is the beginning of a business center which is sure to rise at the intersection of Broadway and Colorado.

BRICKS POPULAR IN NEW HOUSES

The use of bricks is becoming more and more popular with the home builder. It is generally acknowledged that nothing is more attractive for the construction of the home than this material. It may be used in connection with practically any kind of architecture, and may be used with practically any other material in the construction of the single home. There are many who desire brick because of its restful effect upon the eyes. As a rule brick of a dark color are used, so that even during the brightest sunshine are restful rather than aggravating to the optic nerve. Then, too, brick lends itself very admirably to beautification by flowers and greenery. Against the home made of this material climbing roses, geraniums or the like may be grown with very beautiful effect, and around the base of the walls, upon and around the porch, etc., ferns, lilies and the like may be located with charming results. The Simons Brick company, 125 West Third street, Los Angeles, claims that for true economy, there is nothing that can beat it as a building material. The absolute economy of brick is rapidly being seen. Then this firm has a hollow brick which gives the builder a hollow wall of practically solid brick. In this material the beneficial results of brick are obtained and in addition the desirable effects of the hollow wall are secured.

HOUSES GO UP THOUGH RAIN COMES DOWN

Weather Does Not Deter Home Building Say Architects

"Rain or shine, the people of Glendale continue to build homes," says B. W. Sherwood, architect and builder, of 313 South Brand boulevard. "Seems like the people of Southern California would rather build in the rain than when it shines. There was considerable rain during January, and during that month we started five new homes." These homes were for the following: Five-room home at 116 West Magnolia for C. M. Young; an eight-room Spanish house in Casa Verdugo for R. S. Able of Hollywood, at 423 East Ross street; another is a six-room Spanish type house of distinctive design in Casa Verdugo for Reed Huestis, who is a member of the staff of a Los Angeles newspaper; a five-room Flemish style home in Oneonta Park for M. Strife of Glendale, this being the first house to be constructed on this particular tract; another is a four-room dwelling at 403 South Griswold street for H. R. VanCleave of Los Angeles. Other homes that have just been started by Mr. Sherwood are a five-room house at 1906 South Vasar street, Glendale, for D. Skinner of Glendale. A five-room house in Eagle Rock for J. B. Daugherty.

SO. CAL. GAS CO. IS HEATER AGENT

The exclusive agency for the entire San Fernando Valley for the celebrated Cabco gas-steam radiators has just been secured by the Southern California Gas company, 112 West Broadway. There are quite a number of these Cabco heaters already to be found in Glendale and wherever they have been installed they are giving entire satisfaction. This heater is an automatic unitary system of steam heating, using gas for fuel and requiring no water connections. Each unit has a special type of Bunsen burner, and each is fitted with a steam controlled regulator valve which automatically regulates the flow of gas, providing uniform temperature all ways, this alone effecting a great economy in heating cost. This company claims that there is not a heating device made that will give such efficient heating performance at such a low fuel expense. The home heating question, even in California, is one that demands the attention of every home owner, and it is well for the buyer, before making any purchase along this line, to consider carefully the various methods on the market, says this company. The gas-steam idea of heat is practically new and since its introduction has proven unusually popular.

NEWTON ELECTRIC COMPANY GETS STORE CONTRACT

Pendroy Dry Goods Company Give Work to Local People

The Newton Electric Company, 154 South Brand boulevard, which concern has in the past taken care of some of the largest electrical jobs in Glendale, will soon begin work on the electrical work of the new Pendroy Dry Goods company building at the corner of Brand and Harvard. This firm is also well along with the electrical work in the Christian church, corner of Colorado and Louise streets.

A new and large shipment of the Whirlpool dish washers has just been received by this concern. A special for the next few days at the headquarters of this firm will be to give away one of these dish
washers entirely free with each
Royal cleaner that is purchased.

This concern is making a specialty of fixtures for the better class of homes. Fixtures along the Del-Avia line, direct from New York, are meeting with unusual favor. These fixtures are intended for Spanish type dwellings, and may also be seen in bronze, gold and polychrome finishes. There is a tendency at this time to run toward the wrought iron fixture,
some very artistic designs in which are to be seen. Then, too, the prism fixture is gradually coming in popularity again.

This firm has secured the Standard line of electric ranges. This is the only electric range manufactured today with the glass door.
This range has built-in fireless
cooker, and a number of other valuable features.

The Royal washer which may be used in connection with the ordinary stationary tub has also arrived
and will be placed on exhibition soon.

The maneuver proved a brilliant success and the self-elected colonel was forthwith officially commissioned.

Head Stuffed By
Catarrh or Cold?
Use Healing Cream

If your nostrils are clogged,
your throat distressed, or your head is stuffed by nasty catarrh or a cold, apply a little pure, antiseptic, germ destroying cream into your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage, soothing inflamed, swollen membranes and you get instant relief.

How good it feels. Your nostrils are open. Your head is clear. No more hawking, snuffling, dryness or struggling for breath. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from any druggist. Colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed up. Relief is sure.—

Truths in Epigram

Happy is the man who hath never known what it is to taste of fame—to have it is a purgatory; to want it is a hell.
—Lytton (1805-1873).

It is common for those that are farthest from God, to boast themselves most of their being near to the Church.—Henry (1662-1714).

ABOUT CASTING ROCKS

"Far be it from us," says an Omaha paper, "to cast rocks at the one great asset of our fair sister state of California." With this pleasant introduction, it proceeds to cast rocks and other things. While a crocodile tear trembles on his lashes, the editor extends his sympathy to the unfortunate Californians "who are drowned by torrential rains, rendered unhappy by severe frosts, shaken by earthquakes and marooned by blizzards."

Thanks, gentle friend. You are not to be blamed unduly. The person condemned to life in Nebraska must at times long for mild and beautiful California. If he broods over his misfortune too much, it is not strange if his mind breaks under the strain, and his jealousy of folk whose lines have fallen in pleasanter places, gives the savor of bitterness to his lament. For the editorial of the Omaha scribe is a lament. It is the wail of a yearning unsatisfied.

In Nebraska there is bitter cold and terrific heat. Omaha is Arctic in winter. In summer it is a furnace. These things are mentioned kindly. They account for envy. And probably the editor has to stay where he is. Alas, for the good old editorial pass that is no more.

"The one great asset." Meaning climate of course. Los Angeles county is the greatest measured by value of its productions among all the counties in the United States. The city of Los Angeles is a manufacturing center, growing yearly by about the number constituting the population of Omaha.

California has rains each winter, expects them and welcomes them. This year they have been more profuse than usual. When the destroyed highways are mentioned, it is worth while remembering that southern California alone has many times the miles of paved road than Nebraska sustains, and that these are in use by automobiles throughout the year. The recent rains washed out some small bit of road here and there. The break in each case was repaired with small interruption of traffic. And from Nebraska, the commonwealth of the bottomless mud road, comes condolence! Thanks once more.

Once in a decade or so California has a frost that does damage. In some seasons residents of this community experience the novelty of seeing a film of ice. They make great ado about it, and summon their neighbors to witness the spectacle. As to the earthquake, if felt at all, it is mistaken for the jar of a passing truck. Compared with the cyclone that is likely at any time to devastate Nebraska, it is a cheery and desirable companion. And concerning the snow: Does Omaha realize that California is about 800 miles in length? It has high mountains. Snow is characteristic of high mountains. From this community of laden orange trees one looks up to white-capped heights, and may visit them if he likes.

Californians know that they live under the happiest conditions humanly possible. They are sorry for the unlucky souls along the Missouri, and wish they might be happy, too. But it isn't likely. How could they; poor things?

REPEATING A FALSEHOOD

Doubtless there are persons instinctively prone to lie. In instances it may be assumed, they learn to believe themselves. They go upon the old theory that a lie well stuck to is as good as the truth.

When one reads in a paper that "this country to oblige Japan and England will scrap now battleships that it will need later" it is impossible to avoid the conclusion that somebody with the instinctive proneness to lie, has thrust himself forward. For, singular as it may seem, the type in question never gives evidence of shame. On the contrary it seeks publicity.

This country will scrap certain battleships. It will not do so to oblige England or Japan. The plan originated here. It was formulated and announced by American statesmen. They had deemed such a move to be in consonance with the expressed desire of the world for peace. It was a bold and unprecedented action. It took the nations by surprise, and for an instant, staggered them by its radical departure from all precedent. But they came in. When they came in the danger of war was averted, and the possibility of ultimate war was postponed for an indefinite period. In arranging the plan, and in getting England and Japan to assent to it, the United States achieved one of the most stupendous victories of history.

Any man who declares in effect that this country was blindfolded and led to the sacrifice, must know that he is telling an untruth.

MILITARY DEFENSE

It is stated from Washington that the military defense of the Philippines may be abandoned even before ratification of the four-power treaty.

The popular judgment probably will be that such a course might involve risk. The good faith of the signatories to the treaty is not questioned. Were the treaty ratified and of effect, the abandonment of defenses would be the merest admission that the United States meant all that is implied in the terms, and believes its associates to be equally sincere. With the treaty in force the Philippines could need no defenses against any assault from without.

But should the senate reject the treaty, a condition made thinkable only because a clique is demanding such rejection, the affront to the other powers signatory would be measureless. It would excite their indignation. So far as Japan is concerned, such hostility as may have been entertained by the Orientals, would be likely to be aroused to a higher pitch than ever. That country would regard itself as the victim of a particularly stupid practical joke. Resentment would restore and emphasize every danger that had existed. Defenses would have to be maintained, and instead of scrapping battleships, the United States would be building more.

This is quite apart from the effect that rejection of the treaty would have on the administration. The statesmen who now are praised for the excellence of their work, would be held up to scorn, and humiliated before the whole world.

PROMOTING DECENCY

Much has been said concerning reform of the industry of making moving pictures. Part of this has been sensible and timely. Part of it has been babble emanating from those so constituted as to desire to regulate all human conduct. The purpose of the reformation they advocate is not invariably the betterment of any social or business activity, but the attempt to make it conform to personal notions that may be wrong, impertinent and actually silly.

Nevertheless the necessity for placing pictures on a higher plane both of artistry and morals, is recognized within the profession, and without. Circumstances have made this necessity apparent and impressive. The change, coming almost automatically, will involve the weeding out of film people who by their conduct have shocked public opinion. This process already has begun. Sweeping condemnation of the whole industry is as unjust and illogical as would be the claim that there have been no reasons for condemning any phase of it.

Perhaps it would be well to divert attention for a moment from the screen and direct it to a figure of the speaking stage, a woman now abroad, and preparing to re-enter theatrical life. She is notorious by reason of a career of improprieties. She has been sundered from three rich husbands by divorce, and lives luxuriously on the spoils of the chase. She never was a real actress. Her hold on the stage was ascribed solely to her ability to cast a spell over managers.

While the door of the theater, as every door giving access to places sheltering respectability, should be closed to her, the prospects are that her disrepute is to be capitalized. Press agents are busy with the preliminary work of exploiting, and the public prints are giving them space.

Movie people have made mistakes. They never have made the mistake of starring any man or woman on the frank ground that the individual in question was brazen in flaunting a disgusting depravity.

Six persons having died from the effects of liquor sold by a New Jersey saloonkeeper, he has been held without bail on a charge of manslaughter, an exceedingly mild charge in the circumstances. In selling whisky, good or bad, the saloonkeeper was breaking the law. Ordinarily a lawbreaker is held responsible for whatever may arise through his act.

From January 1 until February 17 inclusive, there were 58 persons killed in Los Angeles and vicinity by automobiles. The number of injured was 782. There had been 4434 accidents. These are figures worth thinking about. If they do not convey their own lesson, nothing instructive could be said concerning them.

HORS D'OEUVRES

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Hors d'Oeuvres literally means out of work. The technical meaning is those little bits of eatables with which we commence a meal.

The term is French, of course, as the French are authorities upon matters gustatory.

At the midday meal in a French restaurant one usually begins with the hors d'oeuvres.

They are not much used in England or in Germany.

You will find them, however, in Italy, known as antepasti. You will find them also—or you did find them in former days—in great abundance in Russia and in the Orient. And the farther you get east the most piquant the hors d'oeuvres will become.

Whatever makes eating a more refined and tasteful performance, is worth while. So a few words about hors d'oeuvres may not be out of place.

Any housewife can prepare them, as they are an excellent means of utilizing scraps. It should be remembered, however, that they should be always freshly made.

Fish, being usually highly flavored, form an important element in hors d'oeuvres. As, for instance, anchovies caviare (the salted roe of sturgeon), herring, tunny, shrimps, and the like. They should always be served in small portions and appetizingly arranged.

Among other hors d'oeuvres used by the French, are cucumbers (sliced finely and covered with vinegar), small mushrooms, cabbage slaw, watercress, small beans, small slices of summer sausage (such as cervelat, Bologna and the like), slices of tongue and asparagus tips.

Pickled mushrooms and artichokes are much used in Italy, and they serve their anchovies and other small fish in piquant sauces.

All throughout the Balkans hors d'oeuvres are much in favor. And in the old days in Russia were the zakuski.

It used to be the fashion in Russian families for the guests to help themselves at a small side table where there was a tempting array of salted fish, salted nuts, pickles and salads, which were taken standing accompanied by little glasses of vodka, a strong liquor, which is now prohibited. But very probably that sort of thing in Russia is all over.

The array of hors d'oeuvres in some of the French restaurants was so extensive that the patrons got in the habit of making a meal of them, so that often now an extra charge is made for them unless other food is ordered afterwards.

Of course, you are not expected to eat heartily of the hors d'oeuvres. They are for picking, and to satisfy your appetite with them is supposed to be "indicate."

The conversation during the hors d'oeuvres period of the meal is supposed to be quite frivolous, in keeping with the character of the food.

To those who are disposed to make the most out of the little things of life and to neglect no touch of refinement that can redeem the necessity of nourishment from grossness, hors d'oeuvres form possibly a subject of some interest.

THE LISTENING POST

Speaking of thinking.
And the doctrine of non-acceptance of that which is not proven.
And rebellion against precedent.
The refusal to receive something as just and true for the simple reason that it has been handed down.

Let us consider the greatest nations in the world.
And their emblems.
The emblems chosen and accepted and blazoned forth to the world.
To see what kind of thinking we do anyway.

The greatest nations in the world are the United States and Great Britain.
We take it this statement will be accepted without any doubt.
Whether greatness be considered in the light of power, or territory, or material possessions or spirit or capacity.

So we pause for a moment to consider the emblems of the greatest nations.
And what do we find them to be?
Look on the British side.
And then on that of the United States.

And we find the lion and the eagle.
One a beast of prey.
The other a bird of prey.
Strong, ferocious, compelling admiration for their leadership of the earth and the air.
But neither one with the spirit of the times.

As emblems both of them have been outworn.
There was a time when strength and power were the basis of the nation's greatness.
And if strength and power alone are to be considered, then are the eagle and the lion fit emblems.

For strength and power are all that is represented by the lion or the eagle.
The lion falls upon weaker creatures.
With a crunch of his great jaws he breaks a backbone.

And then he sucks blood and rends flesh.
Of the weaker creature he has destroyed.

Anything inspiring in that?
Anything admirable about it?
Anything uplifting or Christian or splendid about a lion?
Merely the typifying of strength, ferocity, cruelty and power.

Nor is the eagle any better.
He is the monarch of the air.
Ever examine his beak and talons?
Sharp, cruel, thirsting for blood.
Down he comes with a great swoop and up goes the lamb out of the fold and into the nest where the young eagles are waiting.

Up he goes on bloody talons to be rended to bits.
The devouring of the strong by the weak.
What kind of an emblem is that?

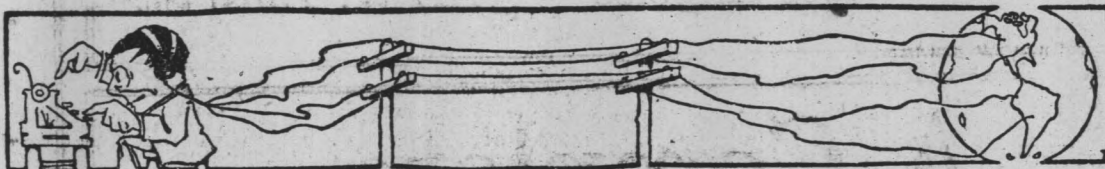

Did the eagle ever supply a meal for anybody but himself?
Did he ever give his precious body to make palates tingle as the Thanksgiving turkey?
He did not.

Did the lion ever get himself into a barbecue like the ox or the sheep or the pig?
Never.
Did he ever do a day's work like the horse?
Not once in all his life.

Here are two creatures of the earth and air, savage, ferocious, cruel, bloodthirsty.
Typifying, if we are to believe their choice as emblems, the two great civilizations and nations of the age.

While the Japanese have the rising sun.
A symbol of warmth and light and life.
And the French have the fleur de lys.
A symbol of sweetness, fragrance, beauty and spirit.

Who selected the lion and the eagle anyway?
JAMES W. FOLEY.

SONGS OF THE POETS

"My Love for Thee"—By Richard Watson Gilder (1844-1909)

My love for thee doth march like armed men,
Against a queenly city they would take.
Along the army's front its banners shake;
Across the mountain and the sun-smit plain
It steadfast sweeps as sweeps the steadfast rain;
And now the trumpet makes the still air quake,
And now the thundering cannon doth awake
Echo on echo, echoing loud again.

But, lo! the conquest higher than bard e'er sung:
Instead of answering cannon, proud surrender!
Joyful the iron gates are open flung
And, for the conqueror, welcome gay tender!
O, bright the invader's path with tribute flowers,
While comrade flags flame forth on wall and towers!

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

By HENRY JAMES

The mild but annoying epidemic sweeping the country causes many to sigh for the privilege of losing their grip.

If amateur sleuths would stop monkeying with the Taylor case there would be hope of finding out something concerning it.

As yet the public does not understand why it would be a calamity for Ford to get Muscle Shoals, and a boon to the country for a rival bidder to win the prize.

Japan bars out Mrs. Sanger, who desires to tell the Orientals about birth control. Really, the birth rate over there is not her personal concern.

They are catching a lot of crooked investment bankers in Chicago, but don't seem able to catch the sums invested.

Chairman Hull of the democratic committee likens Senator Lodge to Aaron Burr. Lodge, however, does not fight duels.

Observing hope for peace in Ireland De Valera seems to have ended it.

Mexicans are requested not to shoot across the border. This sounds like the good old times.

Many thousands of New Yorkers live from hand to mouth. When winter gets bitter there, the hand soon is empty.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

THE RIGHT OF TALK

[New York Times]

The more severe the pressure of work, the greater the need of floods of irrelevant talk. That seems to be the motto of the United States senate. It never had before it a larger list of important bills. It never killed so much time with so much idle discourse. This has become a subtle form of obstructing the public business. Senators do not openly advocate a blockage of the calendar, but their endless voicing of all the thoughts that arise in them does in fact blockade it. This was recognized by Senator Jones of Washington, who proposed the remedy of a rule requiring a senator to speak to the question before the senate.

The suggestion was received with a gasp, as if it were something revolutionary. Senator King of Utah is against all rules to limit debate in the senate, or to compel speaking to the question, for the conclusive reason that senators are representatives of "sovereign states" and as such ought not to be interfered with in any way when they rise to witch the world with noble oratory.

WHAT HAYNES HAS DONE

[New York Times]

"From various sources it is estimated there were 20,000,000 drinkers in the United States before the country went dry," we are told by Commissioner Haynes. "Of this number there are 1,500,000 who drink occasionally now, and another million of old drinkers who imbibe whenever they can get it." This would leave 2,500,000 people who drink, and according to the figures of the prohibition commissioner, they are consuming no more than 5 per cent of the liquor formerly sold in this country.

Mr. Haynes does not take to himself all the credit for this revolution in manners and customs, nor does he hand it to the efficacy of enforcement in general. He points out that there were only 2000 agents in all, and that more were not required because there was no real rebellion against the law. In fact, the country seemed to like it. There was no trouble to speak of. People simply quit drinking.

This being the case, the continuance of Commissioner Haynes' department is an unnecessary extravagance. We are a law-abiding folk; we go dry when we are told, all without a murmur.—Mr. Haynes has said so himself. Yet the government intends to throw away $3,400,000 on enforcement next year, and the expenditure will of course be accompanied by the usual quota of murders and the same high turnover of grafting officials which featured the year just past. Commissioner Haynes has argued himself out of court. He should resign and take his cohorts with him.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

In another column of this paper is something about an Omaha editorial concerning weather conditions in California. It takes the mind of the writer back to his own Omaha days, circumstances having sentenced him to live there three years. He remembers well how as he struggled homeward in the early morning hours, bundled as for the Arctic, the ice annoyed him by accumulating on his whiskers. Reaching home he was accustomed to find the teakettle on the back of the kitchen range broken by its frozen content. So every receptacle in which water had been left. So, also, the water pipes, as a matter of course. Thus he longed for summer, and when summer came, pavements were too hot for barefoot boys to tread. An egg could be fried on them by solar heat, and this he saw done, as the result of a bet, won by himself.

One winter the blizzards that swept Nebraska were tragically fierce. Many school children perished in them. Teachers who had endeavored to guide the little ones, died with them. Farmers were cut off from the world for days. Stock buried in the drifts dotted the plains with carcasses after the snow had gone. Heroic endeavors were made to save the people isolated by storm, and sometimes the would-be rescuers sacrificed their own lives vainly.

These incidents are mentioned to suggest to the Omaha editor that, with possibly the best intentions, he utters himself through his hat when he formulates a wail on behalf of Californians. They live where there is no occasion either to freeze or burn, and they are sorry for the luckless unable to share their blessings.

It is the opinion of many who have given the subject attention, that a law forbidding strikes would be as effective as legislation forbidding the wind to blow, or penalizing the stream for running down hill. Violence as a feature of a strike may be restrained by police authority. The impulse of workmen to quit when dissatisfied is quite beyond legislative power.

From time to time some scientist announces that he has discovered the secret of controlling sex. In each case, most happily, he has been mistaken. The human creature who thinks himself wise enough to change the plans of the measureless intelligence that manages the universe, is a bundle of conceit, that, being contemplated, is recognized as something at which to laugh.

Pictures of the San Bernardino orange show make clear that the citrus belt produces peaches, too. The photographs display a fine exhibition of orchard products, but the pretty girls in the foreground divert the attention from mere merchandise.

Bulgaria, where they have a peasant government, has issued a decree that all women must work. The idea seems to be that for the peasant women to perform all the labor and bear all the babies, is no fair division of responsibilities.

Well, maybe they can put that decree across in Bulgaria. Brooding upon domestic troubles, a Los Angeles lawyer of good professional standing, shot his wife, her mother and himself. He seemed to be in a mood to shoot anybody in sight. Three children were made orphans by the tragedy.

This is one of the affairs concerning which all the restraints of law are futile.

Hoboken has an astrologer who predicts that there will be scandals among women high in society.

And to find this out he had to study the position of the stars. Almost anybody who could be mentioned is wiser than an astrologer.

A suit for slander turns on the meaning of the word "vamp." It has a number of meanings, none of which savors of impropriety. "Vamp" as ordinarily used is not a word, but is a slang abbreviation for vampire. A vampire is a fabled demon or ghost that sucks blood, or is a sort of bat. The vamp, so-called may be more or less a demon, but is quite real. She may also bat around some.

To term a woman a vamp would be to ascribe to her the desire to work her acquaintance, generally male, and to give nothing in return. However, an elderly parent has been known to take the role, with sons or daughters the victims.

Whether calling a woman a vamp entitles her to damages is for the court to say, but the term never is intended as a compliment, that's sure.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

My neighbor got to bragging about his sophomore son this morning. I do not like my neighbor, though I trust I am enough of a Christian not to show it. He is a loud, shovely, shallow man, who owes money to the grocer. But I'll admit that his son is a good-looking kid.

"Not because he's my son, y'll understand," said my neighbor, "but just because it's the truth, I'll say he is a really brilliant boy."

"Well," I said, "I wouldn't worry if I were you. He may get over it."

The neighbor thought I was kidding. He laughed. I laughed because I'm always willing to take the credit for a joke if what I say turns out to be funny. But I was not trying to be humorous. I meant it. If I had the job of picking out young men to take hold of responsible positions I would not even consider a brilliant boy. Such a youngster is apt to be so brilliant that he is a shine. Because he is shovely he forgets that the really important part of an automobile is hidden under a hood.

There's a youngster in the office downtown who isn't brilliant at all. Never has been. Never will be. He is quiet, modest, self-possessed, and hard-working. When I first got acquainted with him I wondered how he managed to hold his job. More lately I have been wondering why he thought it worth while to hold that job. Just by accident I discovered the answer this morning. There is something better in prospect for him. If it works out as it should he will be a rich man in another ten or twelve years.

Brilliance is all right if it is real brilliance. But it must be coupled with hard work and holding capacity before it amounts to much. Because I could make up a term's deficiencies in a week's intensive study I was always a loafer in school. The boys who got the most out of their classes were the ones who had to dig hardest. I'll put my money on the quiet, steady-going, self-reliant chap every time. He will go farther than the class orator.

There's another thing—brilliant boys are apt to spend too much time on street corners.

NORTH BRAND BUSINESS PROPERTY AT ONE-FOURTH VALUE, AS COMPARED TO SIMILAR PROPERTY IN OTHER LOCATIONS

Glendale is "V" shape, expanding to the north. The best residential district is north of Colorado, therefore, the business district will move northward. Glendale is building towards the mountains, like Hollywood.

We believe the "wise" investor, who buys North Brand NOW at the low price of $150 to $300 per front foot, will more than double his money in the next two years, as similar properties in Hollywood and other successful locations, have recently sold for more than four times the price quoted above.

We are exclusive agents for 25 (1250 feet) North Brand business lots, including some very desirable corners.

GLENDALÉ ROUSES WONDER OF SO. CALIFORNIA

Finds People Arriving
From Many Points
Seeking Location

"I find that many of the people who have lived in other sections of Southern California for some time,
have their eyes turned on Glendale,"
said Edward Hennes, 719 South Brand boulevard. "During the past two or three weeks people
from Santa Monica, Venice, Ocean Park, and other points along the seashore have made inquiries about Glendale property. Most of these people have heard a great deal of Glendale, and on several occasions have enjoyed automobile trips into this section. So well
were they impressed by this city
that they decided to come here to remain permanently.

"Also a large number of people
are coming here from the north and the east. They have been taking advantage of the decreased railroad fares. Now that the fares have been lowered still more there is no doubt but that the flock of tourists will grow wonderfully.
"There is a growing demand for property in the southern end of the city. Heretofore this property has been somewhat idle, but the people are beginning to realize the true value of these holdings and for that reason the number of inquiries is growing daily, and a number of pieces of property in that section are being transferred.
"Taken altogether, I think the realty outlook in Glendale at this time is especially bright. I believe we have passed over the "dry times" and that from this time on things will be prosperous."

Foley's Friendly Fancies

JAMES W. FOLEY

A LETTER HOME

Dear Mother: Just a line to say I'm doing ver-
well;
I'll not write very much because there is not much to tell.
The school down here seems very nice; I've not been very blue.
But once or twice I've swallowed down a little lump or two.
I suppose you miss me now and then; it must seem strange all day.
To never have me run indoors with some be-
thing to say;
And not to see me in the yard when you look
out, or hear,
Me come a-whistling down the walk when supper time is near.

I guess sometimes when you're upstairs and some one slams the door
You think I'm coming in and tracking mud upon the floor;
And wait for me to come upstairs and then you smile and say:
"It surely can't be Will because he's miles and miles away!"
It must seem sort of queer to look and see if I'm in bed,
And then to think I am not there but way down here instead.
And then you wonder how I am and just then when you do
I'm safe in bed down here but wish I was back home with you.

Does Father seem to miss me much? I suppose it must seem strange
At meals when he looks for my plate; it must be quite a change.
He used to say: "Don't run upstairs and raise that awful row!"
And after all the noise I've made it must seem quiet now.
Tell him I'm going to write to him, and not to give away
My dog, but treat him kind for me and let his kennel stay
Right where it is till I come back; and pet him some for me, Because you may not know how sad a lonesome dog can be.

Last night three boys of us staid in and it was awful still,
Around the fire; we sort of sighed and Eddie Blake said: "Bill,
I bet our folks are lonesome now with us all gone away!"
And none of us could hardly think of anything to say.
And Jimmy Brink, he rubbed his eyes because the smoke would blow
Out from the grate into the room and make them water so.
And after that for quite a while nobody hardly said
A word, and then we sighed, and sighed, and went to bed.

CONVENTION OF PRESBYTERIANS

men who had worked with her for their loyal service, and turned over to the newly elected president her official pin.

The general theme of the meeting was: "Our Hearts in Service," and the program opened at 2:30 with "Our Hearts in Song," led by Ralph Isbell with Grace Pike at the piano. Other numbers were:

"Our Hearts in Missions," by Grace Pike, Los Angeles County
Union Missionary superintendent.
"Our Hearts in Winning the teen age," Ralph Isbell, State Union Intermediate superintendent.

"Our Hearts in a Quiet Hour," Nancy St. Clair.

Song, "Keep Me True," by Dorothy Thompson and Helena Richardson, with Mary St. Clair at the piano.

Prayer, Rev. W. E. Edmonds.
"Our Hearts and Our Treasure," Harry Marple, Tenth Legion of Tything superintendent of Los Angeles county union.

"Our Hearts in Testimony," For this the two societies divided, the seniors meeting in the Sunday school room, the juniors in the bungalow.

The two divisions came together
at 5 o'clock when refreshments were served by Mrs. C. C. Stoler, Mrs. Harry Marple, Miss Marjorie
Smith and Miss Helen Engle.

At 5:30 a business session was called and there was a roll call, Burbank winning the banner for the fourth time for attendance.
The report of the nominating committee was made by Woodbridge Johnson, its chairman, and the officers were installed by Rev.
Thomas E. Stevenson of Burbank.

The closing numbers were a song by Harriet Gunn of Eagle Rock, "Consecrated Hearts," by Rev. E. E. Ford and "Mizpah," the Christian Endeavor benediction.

OKLAHOMA FOLKS TO HOLD PICNIC

All who ever lived in Oklahoma are invited to meet for the great annual picnic reunion, all day Saturday, March 4, 1922, in Sycamore Grove, Los Angeles. Come as early as you can and spend the day with friends. We will have county registers and headquarters so you can find the old neighbors even with five thousand present.

There will be a brief program
opening about 2 o'clock, but the main purpose will be to have a good time. Hon. Milton Bryan will preside. We want to see all the tourists and visitors from the old home state as well as our residents
so as to make this the greatest picnic in our history. Bring your bakkets well filled and share with friends. Coffee will be served free to all who buy the silk souvenir badges.

Each one who learns of this picnic is asked to pass the word along. Further information may be had of C. H. Parsons, Secretary of the Federation of State Societies, Continental National Bank, 901 South Main street, Los Angeles.

Some of the bridegrooms ought to do the blushing when they consider the incomes on which they expect to support their wives.

GLENDALÉ EXCEEDS SAN FRANCISCO IN VOLUME OF TRADE

C. E. Neale Tells Credit
Men's Association of Interesting Campaign

That business conditions in Glendale were better at present than any place in the state was the substance of a talk before the members of the Glendale Credit Association by C. E. Neale, president of the organization. He said that in a recent trip to San Francisco for the purpose of studying business conditions in that city he found that in comparison to the volume of business Glendale is in the lead.

Several talks were given by members of the association regarding the purposes of the organization. It was illustrated that the purpose of the Glendale Credit Association is to teach the business men of the city to do business on a conservative basis and at the same time to educate the public regarding the necessity of prompt payment of bills by them thereby creating substantial credit ratings.

There were 37 members of the association present in spite of the inclement weather and it was announced that the association is increasing its membership rapidly.
The secretary, Frank H. Phillips, announced that at present there are 52 members on the rolls of the organization.

GLENDALÉ VILLA HAS BIG DAYS

Lots in New Subdivision
Go Rapidly Saturday
and Sunday

"Saturday and Sunday were certainly big days at Glendale Villa,"
said Mr. Mullaly of the Kjergaard & Mullaly company, 207 West
Broadway, sole agent for this tract.
"As a result of former announcements there was a large number of prospective buyers on the tract and a number of the choice homesites were disposed of. Most of these people realized that the lots in this tract are being offered at ridiculously low prices.

"The crowd that gathered at this pre-opening sale convinced us that the buyers who are looking for property in Glendale today are after the larger sized lots and want them located in a section where prices are sure to advance."

Glendale Villa is located on the high plateau between Tenth street and Mountain Drive boulevard, the east and west lines being Lural and Alameda streets. In each of these homesites there is practically half an acre. The building restrictions in this tract are ample,
although temporary homes will be permitted for a space of six months. There is no better soil in the valley than right on this tract and none of this is waste
land; there being no gullies, no hills,
or anything of the kind. The tract consists of 37 beautiful homesites.

The prices at which land is being offered in this tract includes everything in the way of street
work and all city conveniences,
such as gas, electricity, telephone,
water, and the like. In fact, everything is here that would tend to make this the "home tract"—nothing has been left undone that would make these lots desirable.

EDITORIALS

By the People

Glendale, February 20, 1922.

Editor, Glendale Daily Press:
Dear Sir—As the columns of your esteemed paper are always open to the public on matters of civic concerns I would like to ask a few questions about two matters
that seem to be worthy of discussion.

Concerning the annexing of the Verdugo section to the city of Glendale, what would the benefits be to the citizens who live "beyond the wash"? We seem to have about all the comforts and necessities in our neighborhood that would make living under the county just as good as under the city government—with less taxes—I believe.
I should be very glad indeed to have some very well informed person cite the items of advantage
as for city against county.

Secondly, in regard to the advantages a bus line would not the materialization of "buses" tend to a withdrawal of some train service by the P. E. and S. and am I not entitled to this part of the
city; namely, the Verdugo section
about the head of Brand boulevard?
The 20-minute service now is very good and as regular as any road of the same class. Would not the "buses" tend to tear up the already very shabby pavement of Brand boulevard and without adequate recompense to the city? And finally,
what would Glendale have been without the Pacific Electric road?
Would it have been the fastest growing city, etc.

Is it not true that real estate values and prices have been very materially increased through the service of the P. E. and S. and am I
not entitled to this part of the
city; namely, the Verdugo section
about the head of Brand boulevard?

TOWNLEY CONTROL OF RADICAL PARTY IS SHOWN

New Political Organization Plans to Enter Primaries in State

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—Organization of a national farm-labor political alliance was postponed today until the second Monday in December by the conference between the two groups' representatives here.

The conference decided to await the outcome of the November elections before going ahead with the national organization. Pending formation of the national coalition, however, the farmers and laborers will work together through state organizations.

A committee of fifteen was appointed to report at the December meeting on a national organization scheme.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—Plans for "stealing" congress from the old political parties at the spring primaries were made today by representatives of organized labor and farmers.

A campaign by a coalition organization of these forces will be waged in every state. Socialists and other "liberals" will lend their support. No extended national organization will be formed at this time if the conference adopts the report of the committee on organization. This committee recommends that each state organize
by itself and in a form best fitted for that particular state. These state organizations will then endorse favorable candidates for congress or file one of their members on either of the old party
tickets.

This plan is said to be that of Arthur C. Townley, president of the National Non-Partisan league and reported leader behind the United Farmer National bloc. He has decided this action is the most feasible, it is said, as a result of his experiences in North Dakota.
The state organizations will be formed around existing organizations such as the Non-Partisan league and the United Farmers
National bloc, it is said.

Corporals Paul Holland and Roy Westman, of company M, are appointed sergeants, with rank as such from January 1, 1922.

Private Paul M. Vissman, company M, is appointed sergeant,
with rank as such from January 1, 1922.

Private John M. Bender, company M, is appointed corporal,

FRANKLIN HIGH TO PLAY GLENDALÉ

The Glendale high school team will play the last game of the high school league season at the Glendale high school gymnasium on Friday afternoon. They will meet the team from Franklin high school. This game will be one of the hardest of the season for the local five, it is expected, as Franklin is said to have a fast, heavy team.

The Glendale team won the game
on last Friday with South Pasadena by the close score of 33 to 29. At the end of the first half the score stood 15 to 14 with Glendale holding the loser's end. The visitors ran their lead up ten points during the first part of the second half.
A last minute rally on the part of the local team saved the day.

JAP - CALIFORNIA NEXT PROBLEM

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The next big question between the United States and Japan to come to the forefront is the Japanese problem in California, it was learned today.

After Secretary of State Hughes
returns from his vacation, negotiations are expected to be opened between the two governments on this question, and its collateral problem of Japanese immigration.

Baron Shidehara, Japanese ambassador, is understood to be prepared to bring it up for attention.
Japanese diplomatic circles here
do not regard this problem as very big internationally, but it is conceded as being extremely delicate because it is one particularly adapted to popular agitation.

Because of this it is thought by some that Hughes may want to delay further consideration until after the forthcoming elections.
Hughes has never taken up the California and the immigration question with Japan from the situation in which it was left by the Wilson administration. In 1920 when California was about to adopt the last and most drastic of its anti-Japanese legislation barring Japanese from holding land, Shidehara protested to the state department.

SUNSET PAINTS GLOW ON SIERRAS

Glendale had a good chance to imagine how the High Sierras look Monday afternoon when the sun came out for a few moments before setting and illuminated the foothills in a glistening mantle of snow,
the gleaming white changing to rose color and mauve as the sun descended. It was a lovely sight and those who failed to observe it missed a very beautiful and unusual scene.

It's the bird of fine feathers that oftenest is shot.

SINN FEIN HOST CONSIDERS TREATY

DUBLIN, Feb. 21.—Delegates from every part of Ireland, representing branches of Sinn Fein,
met here today in national convention to decide what portion of the organization will support the treaty with Great Britain.
A victory for the Free State was expected in this, the first plebiscite on the issue.

When a naturally dishonest man is caught at it, he always has an alibi, but an honest man never has one.
